

WORDS WRONGLY OMITTED

Note: The word wrongly omitted is underlined.

He did not reply to my letter.

I take an interest in cricket.

He did not reply to me.

I don't take any interest in football.

I wrote to him that I was ill.

I wished him the best of luck.

(I wrote him a letter).

(I said to him, "Best of luck").

I said that I would go.

They cut off his head.

I listen to the radio daily.

I tore up the paper.

We thought of a plan.

I threw away the paper.

I knocked on or at the door.

I picked up the book.

I told him that I would go.

On the 1st of June (on 1st June).

I went or came to Lahore.

He is not as clever as I am.

You had better do it.

I was born on April 1st.

He is as good as or better than I.

I went by the night train

I described to him all that had happened.

I explained to him all that had happened.

I asked him for some money but he would not give me any.

I never have done and never will do such a thing.

He is cleverer than any other boy in the class.