

Chapter 4

Parent Laws in Operation : Alphabetical Order

4. An Overview of the Chapter

In the title of the chapter, the term 'parent laws' has been used to mean the laws which were enacted first on any issue or subject, as opposed to subsequent amendment/s of these laws at later periods. To take an example, the Constitution of Bangladesh will appear once in this chapter and not the amendment laws,¹ which have been subsequently enacted. Similarly, the Code of Civil Procedure will appear once in this chapter. One may also call these laws as 'basic laws', 'fundamental laws', 'principal laws' etc., In absence of any particular title, legally or officially recognised for this category of laws, the authors have applied their judgement to choose the term 'parent laws' to indicate them.

Laws in this chapter have been arranged alphabetically.² The footnotes to these laws indicate the contents i.e., number of Sections, Schedules, etc. Rules, Regulations, Orders and any other bye-law making authority, if any, have also been mentioned in the footnotes. The footnotes also specify, if such bye-laws are available in Chapters 6, 7 and 8 of this Compendium.³

¹ The Constitution of Bangladesh has been amended by thirteen Acts of Parliament. For an exhaustive list of amendment of the Constitution, see Vol. I, Chapter 2, page 164 of this Compendium. See also, Chapter 3, pages 183-184 and 553.

² To access the laws chronologically, i.e., year by year, please consult Chapter 2, Volume I of this Compendium. While for all the laws i.e., 'parent laws' and 'amendment laws' in alphabetical order please see, Chapter 3, Volume I. For the laws according to subject matter, please see Chapter 5. For the laws that are not in force, please consult Volume IV, Chapters 10 to 13. For the Rules, Regulations and other bye-laws, please see Volume III, Chapters 6 to 9 of this Compendium.

³ These Chapters are located in Volume III of this Compendium.

Laws enacted in English have been presented first according to alphabetical order followed by the laws enacted in Bangla.⁴ The total number of parent laws in force as of 1 June 2002, which the authors have identified, stands at nine hundred and sixty one.
